SPECIAL RITES AT SUNSET

Job of Weather Observers

By ROCH BRADSHAW

The weather has a queer effect on some people.

Lots of folks just go on about their business at sunset with no particular thought about climate unless it's excessively hot or particularly cold, or the sunset is especially beautiful.

But there is a small group of people in Orange county who perform a special rite at sunset; and the ceremony almost never varies. It isn't a religious ceremony. It's just a scientific routine which helps Uncle Sam to make an accurate and complete picture of climate throughout the United States.

There are nearly 5000 other persons in the country who perform the same duties every day at a fixed time, usually about sunset, according to Farm Advisor Harold Wahlberg. These persons are weather observers. They record maximum and minimum temperatures, precipitation and any unusual weather conditions.

Among the observers who report Orange county weather conditions to the government are E. E. Campbell, for the Orange and Santa Ana news or absence.

King Fuad of Egypt Dies Following Long Illness

Zioncheck Stays In the News; Now He's to Be Wed

PRINCE WILL RULE UNDER REGENCY

Death of Ruler Leaves Troubled Situation; Populace Shocked

CAIRO, Egypt, April 28. (AP)—King Fuad I of Egypt, 68-year-old friend of the British, died today after a long illness.

The illness was aggravated over the week-end when a gangrenous condition developed in his throat, preventing him from taking nourishment.

Crown Prince Farouk, 16 years old and now attending school in England, will come to the throne under a regency until his 18th birthday.

Premier Ali Pasha Maher, in making the official announcement of his sovereign's passing, said death came at 1 p. m., local time (3 a. m., Santa Ana time).

News Shocked Cairo

The news came as a shock to the population of Cairo following earlier reports that the monarch had rallied after a better night.

Only this morning, the king had called his premier and other officials to the palace and insisted on transacting state business, but the gravity of his condition was clear when plans were made for Crown Prince Farouk's departure from England tomorrow.

Fuad, who celebrated his 65th birthday anniversary March 26, had been in indifferent health many months. He had never fully recovered from his serious illness of 1934 when numerous foreign specialists were summoned to the summer palace at Montazah.

Pierced by shotgun, pistol and rifle bullets, he died at the scene where two white girls reported he attempted to attack them after their motor car broke down on April 10.

Two bullet wounds the Negro received after stabbing two officers in resisting arrest had not yet healed.

The mob, climaxing a series of demonstrations against the 45-year-old Negro which once required the intervention of national guardsmen, broke into Royton's one-story jail at midnight, cornered Night Chief of Police W. A. Dickerson and smashed a lock on the prisoner's cell.

First Shaw was taken to jail at Danielsville, Ga. Enroute he stabbed the officers and was shot twice in return.

A mob of 100 men formed there and battered bricks from the jail in an attempt to reach him.

Superior Judge Berry T. Moseley, 74, left a sickbed to warn the throng against a lynching, and deterred the leaders until a national guard unit, rushed to that city from tornado emergency duty at Gainesville, Ga., took the Negro in custody.

Cutten Again Is Indicted

CHICAGO, April 28. (AP)—Charged last month with attempting to evade $414,515 in 1929 income taxes, Arthur W. Cutten, Chicago grain trader, was accused by the federal grand jury in a second indictment today with attempting to evade $229,944.66 in 1930 and 1933.

The new indictment's two counts charged Cutten attempted to evade payments of $58,579.75 on a gross 1930 income of $702,850.31, and a net income of $334,598.76 and payments of $171,364.91 on a gross 1933 income of $568,891.13 and a net of $529,990.23.

Associated Chambers to Hear Opposition By Craig at Costa Mesa

Orange county sentiment against locating a penitentiary near Costa Mesa was expected to crystallize tonight at a meeting of the Associated chambers of commerce in the women's club house at Costa Mesa. The affair will start at 6:30 p. m. Dr. C. G. Huston, president, has announced that the proposal to locate the home for convicts here will be one of the major topics for discussion.

Assembly Speaker Edward Craig of Brea, member of the state prison site committee who has been endeavoring to steer the prison away from this area, will be on the program. He will outline the prison situation as it exists today.

Prior to the dinner meeting a free tour of Newport harbor will be offered by those planning to attend the session. Important announcements regarding the coming harbor celebration will be made.

Dr. Huston said today that those who do not attend the dinner will be welcomed at 7:30 p. m. when the program starts.

Opposition to locating the prison in Orange county continued to develop today and yesterday. Last night the La Habra farm center adopted a resolution of opposition to the project.

Hitler in Move To Curb Schacht

BERLIN, April 28. (AP)—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler gave additional powers to his right-hand man, Gen. Hermann Wilhelm Goering, today, in a move to curb the power of Germany's economic leader, Dr. H. Jaimar Schacht.

An official edict announced the reichs minister and premier of Russia would assume the post of supreme dictator over all raw material and foreign exchange questions, two of the economic problems previously supervised by Schacht.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 28. (AP)—An additional allocation of $2,000,000 WPA funds has been made for California to carry on the WPA program to the middle of June.

HOUSE OKS 'HEART' OF TAX BILL

Change Voted Without Opposition on Rate To Corporations

WASHINGTON, April 28. (AP)—The house today gave tentative approval to the heart of the new tax bill—a system of rates to apply to corporation incomes graduated according to proportions of earnings withheld from distribution to stockholders.

The first change to be voted, designed to give more favorable treatment to corporations with deficits, was accepted by a voice vote, without a single negative vote.

Proposed by Chairman Samuel B. Hill (D., Wash.) of the ways and means tax sub-committee, it would reduce from 22½ to 15 per cent the rate corporations would pay on portions of their income needed to meet deficits.

Lag Wiped Out

The full committee, just before the house assembled, had authorized Hill to offer the amendment. He was instructed, also, to submit an amendment intended to wipe a $100,000,000 lag in revenue in the first year of the bill's operation.

That, too, was accepted on a voice vote.

Hill said the later amendment would be a "simple proposition" of making the dividend year the same as the taxable year for corporations.

Lag Explained

As now written, the bill, which was estimated to raise $803,000,000, would permit a lag by reason of the fact that corporation dividends paid out of 1936 income in the first two and a half months of 1937 and not taxed in the hands of stockholders until they filed income tax returns in 1938.

The amendment, Hill said, will effect require corporations to anticipate last quarter earnings and declare out dividends during the last quarter without actual figures on income for the period.

But, he explained, if dividends should exceed earnings, a corporation could obtain tax credits in the next year, or the one thereafter, for the excess.

Townsend Probe At Battle Creek

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., April 28. (AP)—Rep. Clare E. Hoffman (R., Mich.) brought the congressional investigation of the Townsend plan organization today to the home city of Rep. Verner W. Main, who was elected to congress last December as a supporter of the pension plan.

This is western Michigan division headquarters of the Townsend organization. A hearing will open here tomorrow, supplementing an inquiry yesterday in Detroit.

TEXAS TORNADO LEAVES 4 DEAD

TWISTER HITS FARMS; SIX INJURED

WHARTON, Texas, April 28. (P)—Two Negroes were killed and several persons injured by a tornado which struck the eastern part of Wharton county today.

Young Brooks, 31, of Egypt, and his wife, Minnie Brooks, were killed when the tornado carried their home about 100 feet and buried them in the debris.

TWO KILLED AS TORNADO HITS FARM

ROCKDALE, Texas, April 28. (P)—Two persons were killed by a tornado which ripped through a farming section six miles northwest of Rockdale during a heavy rain and hail storm early today.

A Negro woman and her grown son, living on the Simms ranch were demolished and several others blown from foundations.

Several persons living on the ranch were injured.

Another twister struck Cuero, about 129 miles south of Rockdale, injuring six persons. Several houses were blown from their foundations.

The Cuero home of Louis Lindo was demolished and caught fire. Lindo and his five children were scattered and bruised.

General rains drenched the state except in the extreme southwest and along the New Mexico border.

BOYS FACE PETTY THEFT CHARGES

Two 16-year-old Tustin boys, Walter Linker and Bill Bouchard, were arrested by Deputy Sheriffs Steve Duhart and Walter Duncan last night and booked at the county jail on charges of petty theft. The pair are accused of having stolen 10 gallons of gasoline from the Charles Van Wyck ranch on South Lyon street, Santa Ana.

MORE FUNDS FOR STORM DRAIN

A supplementary allocation of funds for continuing work on construction of the Villa Park storm drain was received here today by the Works Progress administration. The federal allotment is $16,857, to be matched by $1940 of county funds.

MORE ABOUT CHINA FAMINE

The famine in Szechuan province is the first ever to visit this former land of plenty.

The disaster in Honan province, in Central China proper, is the worst there since 1920, when millions perished as a consequence of floods and droughts.

Food Non-Existent

In Honan, once law-abiding Chinese farmers, crazed by hunger, have resorted to banditry in search of food which has become almost non-existent there.

Three large government banks in Szechuan have raised a loan of about $180,000,000 to be used for purchase of food for rice crops, but informed sources said this was only "a drop in the bucket."

American missionary doctors say millions more would be required to cope with the situation.

PLAN SECOND PROJECT ON EROSION

An effort to establish a second soil erosion control demonstration project in Orange county was making rapid strides today.

The location of the proposed new project is in the La Habra Heights district. Petitions have been in circulation in that region and are virtually ready to submit to the Soil Conservation service.

Last night at a meeting of the La Habra farm center it was decided to request other agencies in that area to join in the request for a new project there.

About a month ago an official from the Soil Conservation headquarters at Santa Paula spoke to the farm center and said it was possible to secure the project if a petition asking for it were submitted.

The proposed project would be similar in many respects to the one now under way in the El Toro district. At last night's meeting Assistant Farm Advisor Ross Crane was requested to arrange a tour of the El Toro project for persons in the La Habra region.

Mrs. Lackland's first program follows:

MORE ABOUT KING FUAD

cult for the Egyptian monarch to throw off the lingering effects of his 1934 illness.

His death came at a time when Anglo-Egyptian relations had only recently progressed from the riot stage, caused by agitators, to peaceful negotiations for a treaty of alliance.

To the extent which his death now creates a certain internal instability in Egypt, it is expected to have an adverse effect on British and Egyptian relations and may delay negotiations.

The fact that Crown Prince Farouk is a minor, requiring a regency council until he becomes of age on his 18th birthday, further complicates matters politically.

Await Regency News

In official circles, the situation is regarded as further complicated by the prevailing tensity in the Mediterranean.

The premier, stunned with the suddenness of Fuad's end after the monarch's surprising early morning rally, communicated the news to the waiting ministers.

All Cairo was enveloped, containing the name of Fuad's end after the monarch's nomination for the regency council of three would be opened. Those eligible for the nomination are princes, former premiers, ministers, former ministers, presidents and former presidents of parliament.

"Resolved, that the 425 members of Santa Ana Townsend club No. 2, as citizens of the state of California vested with the right of suffrage as constitutionally provided, do hereby voice our unanimous opposition to the Smith anti-lobby bill, house resolution No. 11,663. We protest its vicious attack upon the fundamental principles of our government. It would if it becomes law seriously hamper the liberty of every citizen of the United States. It is an American in its purposes and would seriously affect the free exercise of the people's influence in behalf of good government. We therefore ask you to use the power of your vote and influence to defeat this bill when it comes before the senate for passage. The citizens of the great state of California have stood by you for many years as their representatives and they now expect that you will stand by them by helping to defeat this bill."

More than 50,000 tung trees have been planted in the Beaumont, Texas, area during the past year and more than 100,000 seedlings were started.

SHERIFF ASKS FOR ADDED POLICING

Blaming more liquor, unpoliciced dance halls and fast cars for an outbreak of petty crime and highway accidents, Sheriff Logan Jackson appeared before the board of supervisors this morning in an appeal for more policing in Orange county's unincorporated areas. His pleas met with little response.

"Costa Mesa and the Buena Park district are asking for more protection," he said. "We have three cars on night fruit patrol, and one criminal deputy on night work, but it simply is not enough man power to adequately police unincorporated areas."

"Let Them Fight"

Sheriff Jackson said that brawls starting in roadside cafes and dance halls account for many of the calls received by the sheriff's office during the night, and that under existing ordinances cafes, night clubs and similar establishments do not come under the dance-hall ordinance which requires the management to pay for police protection.

Chairman John Mitchell of the board said that more policing was out of the question. "If they want to fight in those roadhouses let them fight," he said. "Let them conduct a disorderly house and the state will revoke their licenses."

Superior W. C. Jerome agreed with the chairman. "The only way to treat this disease," he said, "is to let it run its course. Within a year, after the legislature meets, we'll have some kind of control for the liquor business, and then we'll see what we can do."

Jackson Tells Danger

The situation as it stands has all the aspects of a minor crime wave. Sheriff Jackson told the board. There is danger in the beer halls and on the highways, because of the lack of police protection.

N. E. West, Laguna Beach, corroborated his remarks, saying he had received many requests for more protection. LeRoy Lyon expressed his opinion that more enforcement was at least a temporary remedy for an aggravating condition.

But the board took no action, merely agreeing to take Sheriff Jackson's request under consideration. The board will consider the possibility of enacting a dance-hall ordinance to take in roadside cafes, and to entail the provision of protection by the owners.

Chairman Mitchell expressed the board's sentiment when he said they would let "the affair run its course; these malefactors will kill themselves off in time."

L. A. Phone Rates Are Ordered Cut

Los Angeles telephone users got a $1,250,000 prize today in the form of a rate reduction ordered by the California railroad commission. The slash affects all types of telephones, and will become effective June 1.

The city had asked for an annual reduction of $1,500,000. The cut amounts to about 7 per cent of the Los Angeles telephone rentals.

Rules Under Regent

The six-foot prince will rule under a regency until he is 18 years old, his father having left a sealed envelope containing his choice for regents.

Good looking, affable and unusually mature in appearance, Farouk has been carefully educated from childhood in keeping with his father's maxim: "It is nothing to be a prince, but something to be useful."

The prince has been a resident of England since last October, living in a large stone mansion with a personal staff. Farouk was not immediately informed of his father's death, pending the receipt of official word from Cairo.

Liked Boxing, Polo

The new king reads widely and is an ardent stamp collector, a good amateur photographer, and an all-round sportsman. His favorite sports are boxing, swimming and polo.

When Farouk was 13, King Fuad conferred on him the title "Prince of El Said"—or prince of Upper Egypt.

7 Pat Witnesses Too Many, So Defendant Loses Case

When seven witnesses agree as to every detail of an auto accident, that's too much corroboration.

So ruled Superior Judge James L. Allen today when he decided against Frank and John Diero and Mrs. Charles Diero, defendants in a $5650 damage action brought against them by Barbara and Grant Allen, Santa Ana, although every defense witness told exactly the same story of the crash.

At the same time Judge Allen ruled against the Allens in a $5200 damage action brought by Mary Leonardo, passenger in the Diero car, the circumstances of the crash being exactly the same.

"Seven pat witnesses are too many," the judge said. "It isn't possible that you could all have seen the same things, and I believe there is perjury somewhere in this. So I am deciding that Mr. and Mrs. Allen are entitled to the judgment."

Mr. and Mrs. Allen brought suit against the Dieros, after a crash occurring at Flower and Myrtle streets last Sept. 27. Mrs. Leonardo then brought suit against Mr. and Mrs. Allen. All defense witnesses testified that as Mrs. Allen's car entered the intersection at a speed of 25 miles per hour she had her head turned to watch a bowl of food on the seat behind her.

Mene Mended

Bull's Tragedy

Scattered specialties: George Blaeholder, towering righthanded flinger from Garden Grove, cinched up his loop-leading Cleveland team's position another notch yesterday when he turned back the St. Louis Browns with a seven-hit performance from the hilltop. George got the bulge over Russ Van Atta in the pitching duel. The Indians, who always start out like a man chasing a streetcar, have won eight of their 11 starts this season.

Don Johnson is on his way home—or may be here by now—from a San Francisco hospital where he has been recuperating from a broken foot, suffered a week ago Sunday as he galloped around for his Mission team. Don's mother and wife live in Santa Ana.

Anaheim's Joe Mene has about finished the mending on his injured hand and reports back to the beleaguered Angels this week. Reports are that the Ponca City flash may be converted into a first baseman. With things going the way they are, Manager Jack Lelivelt wouldn't surprise anyone if he'd put Mene out there to pitch. However, Mene's forte is fchasing, which is likely just where he will wind up.

Buzz Montaña was telling Dick Daviscourt, between acts at last night's wrestling show, how he lost his "dough."

"I buy plenty lots," grunted Bull with gestures. "I buy one 15 hundred dollars. Sell him 15 'tousand. Soon as I get the check I go like hell to bank." "Quick, I say, what's good stock?" They slap me on back, sell me lots of stock. Then pour! All gone.

"Now I want to borrow hundred dollars from this bank. Can I? No. Bull is nice guy when I have money. But now . . ."

Daviscourt registered sympathy as best he could. It is no secret that poor old Bull, now down to refereeing, made and lost a million or more in wrestling and movies.

Cecil Marks, who is one of the best rooter-alumni any college could have, is always looking out for the University of Arizona. He follows his team like a hawk and wants to help all his fellow alumni to do the same. Today he brings in a copy of the Arizona school's baseball schedule in Southern California. Here it is for you U. of A. followers: At Redlands, April 28; at Occidental, April 29; Whittier, May 1 and 2.

Andrew Jackson (Bill) Cook is nearly stunned by the beautiful response he has received from the Dons in spring football.

Twenty-five hustling aspirants were in toggy when Coach Cook mobilized his junior collegians for their first organized workout at Poly field yesterday.

Smiling, Cook recalled how in past seasons he had trouble in interesting even a dozen prospects in spring drill. The lure of the beaches was too strong.

Beach weather has not been too inviting thus far. Coach Cook is not certain yet that some of his first 25 will not "stray from the post." He'll be pleasantly shocked if 25 in are suit on the same days the beaches boast perfect swimming weather.

Infielder Alex Clark collected two of the Elks' six blows—three each off Hodgson and Ira DeBush. Horace Sears led Irvine's assault with three for five.

The hard-hitting Beavers need only a little luck in their series with the San Diego Padres and a close series at Seattle to move up from fourth to second place. They are a half a game behind

Louisville Takes 62nd Derby Hysteria 'In Stride'

50,000 FANS WILL WATCH CLASSIC

Brevity Still Liked As Horse to Beat Over Famed Downs Track

By ORLO ROBERTSON

Associated Press Sports Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 28.—Buzzing with horse talk, this Blue Grass turf capital can hardly wait for the 62nd running of the Kentucky Derby.

Four days hence the pick of the three-year-olds will answer the burly call at Churchill Downs for the turf classic. Upwards of 50,000 fans from every section of the country are expected to pack the quarter-mile long grandstand from rafter to rafters.

Multi-colored banners, strung along the business streets, gaily dressed windows and the columns of the press reminded one that this is Derby week. But there was no hysteria. To the visiting laymen, Louisville was taking this Derby in stride.

17,000 Colonels

Underneath all this seemingly unconcerned appearance, however, there was a restlessness which, if it runs true to form, will burst loose with a roar Friday and Saturday, when the multitude, including thousands of Kentucky Colonels and Admirals, descend on the city. Some 17,000 Colonels and Admirals were restored to good standing yesterday by Acting Governor James E. Wise.

The Downs itself will not assume a festive atmosphere until the day before the race. Today only a comparatively few of the mutual windows were open and they were not overly busy. Saturday the man who wants to play his two dollars will have to fight his way through the mob.

Beat Brevity

Across the track in the green-painted barns there was a different story. Here horsemen from the trainers down to the swipes, were discussing only one subject—the Derby. Almost without exception they picked J. E. Widener's Brevity as the horse to beat over the one and one-quarter miles. Asked to pick a horse most likely to turn the trick and they were almost as far apart as the poles.

One mentioned William Woodward's Granville. Others talked of Grand Slam, The Fighter, Teufel, Colstream and Indian Broom.

IRVINE WRECKS ELKS, 15 TO 5

The Santa Ana City league's champion Elks were treated roughly in a bitter 15-5 night loss to Irvine of the Orange County league at Irvine last night.

The Sears' brothers—LeRoy and Horace—and Ray Hodgson and Irvine blasted homers during the free-scoring circus. Pitchers Ray Stout and Larry Cannon of the B. P. O. E. were Cannon of the B. P. O. E. were the victims.

Infielder Alex Clark collected two of the Elks' six blows—three each off Hodgson and Ira DeBush. Horace Sears led Irvine's assault with three for five.

WPA TO CUT PAYROLL

The Works Progress administration in Orange county is scheduled to reduce its payroll to about 2,750 persons by May 1. This will mean a decrease of about 50, it was revealed today by Dan Mulherron, WPA director. The present total is 2,800.

Mr. Mulherron said today he believes the reduction will be accomplished without arbitrarily cutting any men from the lists. There is a steady drift of WPA workers to agricultural jobs, he said.

The WPA cut here is part of a general reduction throughout the country ordered by the administration at Washington.

What to Buy? The Answer: Handybags

"But what shall I buy?" To this eternal query of the housewife comes the answer: Handybags. Women are always proclaiming over them and investing in 10 different flours and cereals in little replicas of dish-towel sized flour sacks.

When the flour is all used, the sacks can be used for everything from shoe holders to vegetable containers for the refrigerator.

The cellulose wrapper shouts quality and cleanliness. They are as spick and span as is the flour which is found in them.

Suggestions for cooking are enclosed in the folders inside the dainty little sacks.

MOOSE RIVER PAPER TELLS RESCUE WORK

Vivid accounts in the Halifax Herald, Nova Scotia, of rescue efforts at the Moose river mine where three men were saved after being entombed for 10 days after a cave-in are being shown friends here by Albert Dennis, 1402 Maple street.

The paper, founded by Mr. Dennis' brother, the late Senator William Dennis, 60 years ago, is operated by the latter's son, Senator W. H. Dennis, who sent the news-paper to the local man.

Flour Is Not Just Flour After All!

Flour may be just fine white powder to you—but at the Fisher Flouring Mills company, a large staff of white-aproned, skilled chemists will tell you that there are as many kinds of flour as there are styles for women.

Hundreds of varieties of wheat may be used in making flour. Fisher's mills only certain parts of the wheat, designed to impart the best possible flavor and the finest degree of nutrition.

A home economist, Miss Mary Mills, wearing spotless white linens, works with the chemists and millers in selecting the very best blend to meet the particular homemaker's requirements.

Baking Depends On Good Foods

Some women are always successful in their baking.

You may think it's good luck, but to one it's because they use high-class ingredients. "It is true economy to buy the best" is logic not yet successfully refuted.

Pacific coast housewives' problem is solved in the flour line by the reasonably priced, splendid products of the Fisher Flouring Mills company.

Laboratory tested, the flour and cereals of this company are presented for your consumption in the most sanitary and convenient way.

County Legion Posts Stage Annual Relief Ball Thurs.

Culminating two months of preparation, plans for the American disaster relief welfare dance have reached completion it was said by Ben Lieberman, general chairman, today.

For four hours Thursday night, beginning at 8:45 p.m., scores of Orange county residents will join with the Legion in its greatest social event of the season—the Legion ball, which will be held in the Valencia ballroom, located on the 101 highway between Santa Ana and Anaheim. Frank Nieman, with his Laguna Beach ballroom orchestra of four pieces has arranged an attractive program including a special routine of latest dance numbers. Legion posts over the county report a large advance sale of tickets.

All proceeds above expenses will go to the Legion disaster relief welfare fund and will be used for emergency relief work in stricken communities in event of disaster in Orange county.

Under its county-wide disaster relief set-up, the American Legion is organized into emergency units and with adequate funds will be equipped to render aid at short notice to those in need in cooperation with authorities.

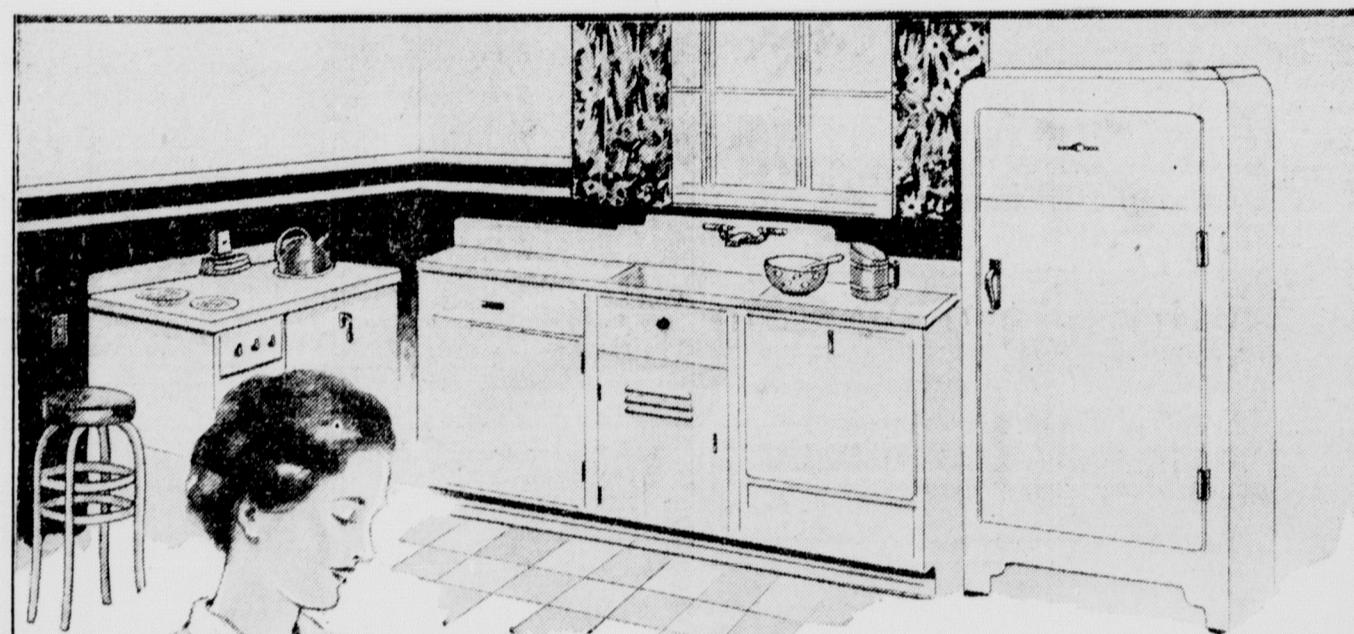

The Legion's main objective is to properly prepare in advance to provide trained manpower, supplies, bedding, food, clothing and shelter for the homeless and needy in the event of major disasters.

The combination of palatability and nutritiveness gives the ripe olive a fond following, and ideal specimens of ripe olives are packed under Lindsay Brand.

Ripe olives keep best in a cool place and in the light brine liquid in which they come in the Lindsay Ripe Olive cans.

MESIAH AUXILIARY

The WORLD'S GREATEST Purchasing Agent!

...and "America's Finest Flouring Mills" join hands in producing all kinds of baking to delight the happy family.

Like all good purchasing agents, the housewife knows real value. She knows that cheap, inferior flour endangers her baking. She knows the cost of flour used in baking is lower than that of other ingredients and good flour is most important for successful baking.

The immense concrete storage tanks at "America's Finest Flouring Mills" have a capacity of 2,500,000 bushels of wheat. This storage makes it possible not only to separate and store the various kinds of wheat but to segregate each kind of wheat as to its particular characteristics.

The modern purchasing agent knows that Fisher's Blend is made from choice hard and soft wheats of particular types and certain characteristics. She knows it is milled with the finest of machinery. The housewife knows Fisher's Blend is made in one mill—by one staff of millers—on one approved formula...which insures an unvarying, uniform high quality.

These are just a few reasons why "the world's greatest purchasing agent" uses and recommends Fisher's Blend "for every purpose."

STOCKS FIGHT OFF SELLING ATTACK

Losers in Early Spree Regain Under Heavy Buying Activity

By VICTOR EUBANK

NEW YORK, April 28. (AP)—Sellers again pounced on the stock market today, but leading issues met a little support after dropping 1 to 2 or more points.

Heavy offerings around noon put the ticker tape several minutes behind for a while. Then buying appeared and the list stiffened. Earlier extreme losses were pared or replaced with small gains in many instances.

Improvement on the come-back was shown by N. Y. Central, Delaware & Hudson, Southern Pacific, North American, Allied Chemical, Chrysler, American Can, Texas Corp., and American Smelting.

Failure of the steels, coppers and many other equities to participate to any extent in the moderate recovery was a bit discouraging to the analysts.

Nearing the fourth hour losers of as much as a point or more included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, National Steel, General Motors, Case, Kennecott, Anaconda, International Nickel, Western Union, Standard Oil of California, Deere and U. S. Industrial Alcohol.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, April 28. (AP)—There were selective recoveries of fractions to 2 points or more in today's stock market, but most of the recent leaders again were in retreat.

Scattered rails and specialties gave the best performance while the steels, motors and copper were slow losers.

The change was irregular. Transfers were around 2,250,000 shares. Closings:

AWARD STAGE EQUIPMENT CONTRACT

The School Equipment company, a Los Angeles firm bidding through the Featherly Drapery Shop, 508 North Main street, Santa Ana, last night was awarded the contract for installing stage equipment in the new high school auditorium and little theater by the board of education. The company's bid was for $7372 and, according to specifications, includes complete installation of the equipment.

The board last night also authorized the firm of Crawford and Prentiss to proceed with the demolition of a portion of the Edison Grammar school. The value of the materials derived from the demolition will not exceed $75, and the firm has agreed to do the job for cost plus 10 per cent, providing the cost of demolition does not exceed $400.

The advisability of placing traffic signals at Main and Tenth streets was discussed by board members, but no action was taken. It was pointed out that the intersection is one of the busiest in the city during the school year, since junior college class buildings are on both sides of Main street, necessitating constant crossing of the street by students. The matter will be presented to the city council at some future date.

Los Angeles Epic Will Speak Here

Guy Vande Griff, well-known Los Angeles speaker, will deliver an address at the Epic Democrat headquarters, 421 North Sycamore street, at 8 p. m. tomorrow. His appearance here was announced today by W. Maxwell Burke, Epic Democrat at Santa Ana.

Mr. Vande Griff's subject will be "Production for Use Without Profit, and How to Obtain It."

The board authorized Superintendent of Schools Frank Henderson to employ a part-time teacher for the remainder of the school year to relieve the sixth grade instructor at McKinley school. Mr. Henderson pointed out that there are 46 sixth graders at McKinley, and explained that one teacher was unable to successfully handle such a large class alone.

Upon recommendation of Superintendent Henderson, the board granted four requests of teachers for leaves of absence. Mrs. Sue Baxter Smith, teacher at Fremont grammar school, who recently married Harry T. Smith, a former resident of Santa Ana, expressed a desire to join her husband who is living in Kingman, Ariz. Others granted leaves are Miss Helen Johnson, Jefferson grammar school; Miss Ruth Rowland, high school teacher; and Mrs. Lura Livenspire, now on leave of absence from the high school but who desires an extension of her leave.

Merriam Takes Milk, Gives His Favorite Menu

SACRAMENTO, April 28. (AP)—The National Restaurant association of Chicago put Governor Merriam up against a difficult decision but he solved it by saying, "I'll take milk."

A questionnaire designed put the 48 chief executives of the nation on record as to their favorite menus, as a feature of national restaurant week, May 4 to 10, was easily answered down to the last item: "Your favorite beverage?" Then Governor Merriam explained he was in a quandary as to a choice between milk and orange juice. Finally he marked down "milk."

The other items, from soup to dessert, were easy, he said, and here are his favorites:

Oyster soup, trout for the fish course, corned beef and cabbage for the entree, avocado salad, gooseberry pie.

Twin Sisters, Wed To Twin Boys, Now Seeking Divorce

LOS ANGELES, April 28. (AP)—Lois Maude Coats Sebring sued Ray Alvin Sebring, member of the U. S. Marine Corps, for divorce yesterday, only a few days after her twin sister filed a divorce suit against the marine's twin brother, Roy Calvin Sebring.

The couple had a double wedding Dec. 27, 1934, and the wives' complaints said both separations occurred last Oct. 12. They have the same lawyer.

Lois Sebring charged her husband with non-support and cruelty, saying he boasted he was head of the house and tried to force her to cook, eat, dress and sleep according to his own ideas.

CHEESE AND RIPE OLIVE CASSEROLE

$\frac{1}{2}$  cup minced onion
2 tablespoons olive oil
2 cups canned tomatoes
1 cup salt
Speck pepper
1 cup grated American cheese
4 cups stale (not dry) bread crumbs
 $\frac{1}{2}$  cup minced Lindsay brand ripe olives

Sauté the onion in the olive oil until tender. Add the tomatoes, salt and pepper, and simmer 5 minutes. Add cheese and stir until melted. Arrange crumbs, tomato mixture and ripe olives in alternate layers in a  $1\frac{1}{2}$  quart casserole, and bake in moderate oven 375 degrees F. for 30 minutes. Serves six.

TAMALE LOAF

1 3-lb. can tomatoes ( $2\frac{1}{2}$  cups)
1 teaspoon chili powder
1 cup olive oil
1 cup green and peeled onion
1 cup chopped seeded green pepper
1 pound ground round steak or hamburger
1 cup green pepper
1 cup Lindsay brand ripe olives
2 teaspoons salt
1 cup cornmeal

Place the tomatoes and 1 teaspoon salt in top of a double boiler and heat to boiling over direct heat. Add the cornmeal while stirring constantly, cook until thickened, then place over hot water and cook 15 minutes. Meanwhile cook the onion and green pepper in the oil until transparent, then add the meat and simmer 5 minutes. Add the chili powder, pepper, remaining 1 teaspoon salt, and the olives from which the pits have been removed. Mix with the tomato mixture and bake in a greased  $1\frac{1}{2}$  quart casserole in a moderate oven of 350 degrees F. for 30 minutes. If desired,  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup grated American cheese may be sprinkled over the top just before serving. Some prefer this recipe with the addition of  $\frac{1}{2}$  pound brick chili, and in this case it should be cooked with the tomato and cornmeal mixture. Serves six.

ROYAL PURSE IS FIGURED

LONDON, April 28. (AP)—The cost of maintaining King Edward VIII, and other members of the British royal family will be $2,165,500 a year, under recommendations presented to the house of commons today by a select committee.

This figure, representing the so-called "civil list" of annuities, granted to the royal family by parliament upon the recommendation of the committee, is $184,500 less than that appropriated at the start of King George's reign.

The committee proposed that $200,000 a year be set aside to prove for the contingency of the king's marriage, but that this sum be not drawn as long as King Edward remains unmarried.

Other figures presented included those of his majesty's privy purse, $550,000, salaries for the king's household and retirement allowances, $670,000, and expenses of the monarch's household, $764,000.

The king, however, will not draw the $110,000 provided for his privy purse as long as his revenues from the Duchy of Cornwall remain above $510,000 a year.

The other members of the royal family will receive a total of $970,000.

A sum of $350,000 would be earmarked for a queen, should King Edward marry and his consort outlive him.

The dislike behind polite smiles of neighbors who daily spoke to each other with apparent cordiality proved to be about as bad as the cartoons picture it.

Among the strong reasons for the two groups of six and seven as a rule cared little for each other.

The dislike behind polite smiles of neighbors who daily spoke to each other with apparent cordiality proved to be about as bad as the cartoons picture it.

Instead of the five girls, who will be two years old May 28, being "restless" as Mrs. Dionne declared, Dr. Dafoe said they simply were filled with healthy energy which had to be worked off.

The "restlessness" was attributed by the mother to hunger.

Worthy battles of the past over the care and custody of the celebrated little girls threatened to revive as Mrs. Oliva Dionne asserted "greenish mush" should be discarded in favor of meatier fare.

Dr. Dafoe countered with the declaration the children received ample food, but their weight was kept down purposely to help them resist possible disease.

Mrs. Dionne said she felt the youngsters should be fed soups made from fresh meats, mashed potatoes and a bit of meat gravy, cooked vegetables and lots of milk.

The "greenish mush" Dr. Dafoe described as mashed fresh fruit and oatmeal.

New Social 'Yardstick' Is Shown, Tests People on Preference of Neighbors

NEW YORK, April 28. (AP)—The liking of one family for another were mothers wishing their children to associate with those of another woman; similarities in cooking tastes, in dress, in church and in educational ideals.

Differences in nationality were of little importance. Thus the best friends of a Polish family might mutually be an Italian family.

There were 17 Negro families. Where the Negroes were in small groups, the study declared, they tended not to select each other. Where they lived in larger groups they tended to like each other's company more.

The study showed two types of leaders. One, persons who liked many others, and for whom the leader was mutual. Two, leaders who were selective, not liking many others.

The number one type was most influential. In two years and five months a number one type built a maximum following of 108 persons against 67 for the unstable leader.

FORUMS LAUDED BY DR. CASE

Public forums for study and discussion constitute one of the most significant evidences of social change, Dr. Clarence A. Case, University of Southern California sociology professor, told an audience last night in Willard auditorium.

Three major steps in social change were cited: using environment to live, equalizing benefits of the first process, and re-adjusting conditions to supply the basic human demands for security, new experiences and personal response.

Thanks to engineers, approximately 3000 in the United States, it is now possible to live upon what is produced, realizing first of the three steps, Dr. Case said. Distribution of products is now up to social and political agencies, he added.

Revolution, the speaker averred, is the final step in any change, but is not necessarily turbulent.

Fulfillment of the first two steps would alter conditions so radically as to amount to revolution, although no such definite event took place, he said.

QUAKER STATE IN POLITICAL SPOTLIGHT

By the Associated Press
Political attention centered today on Pennsylvania where observers sought a possible hint of November sentiment in the Keystone state.

In Col. Henry Breckinridge of New York, President Roosevelt meets his first state-wide primary opposition. Senator Borah of Idaho, Republican candidate for the presidential nomination, is running unopposed.

Pennsylvania, with its large block of 36 electoral college votes, was one of the six states that went against the New Deal in 1932. Its electorate voted 1,453,540 for Mr. Hoover and 1,295,948 for Mr. Roosevelt.

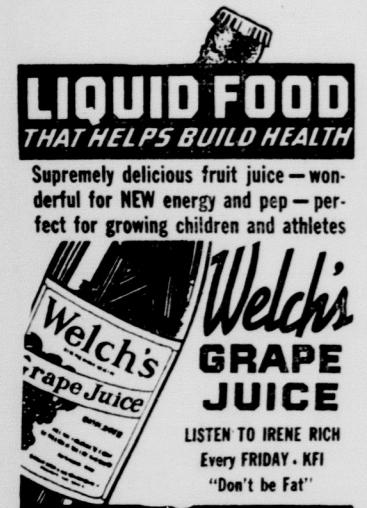

Massachusetts also was holding a presidential primary today. In both parties voters had an opportunity to express their presidential preference, though the result will not bind either the Democratic or Republican convention delegates.

While Massachusetts Democratic leaders looked to the vote to show great strength for President Roosevelt, Republicans were concerned with the showings of Col. Frank Knox of Chicago, Gov. Alf Landon of Kansas and U. S. Senators William E. Borah of Idaho and Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, for whom campaigns have been made.

Republicans will elect four delegates-at-large and 29 district delegates to the Cleveland convention, making a total of 33 votes. The at-large slate is unopposed and all candidates are unpledged.

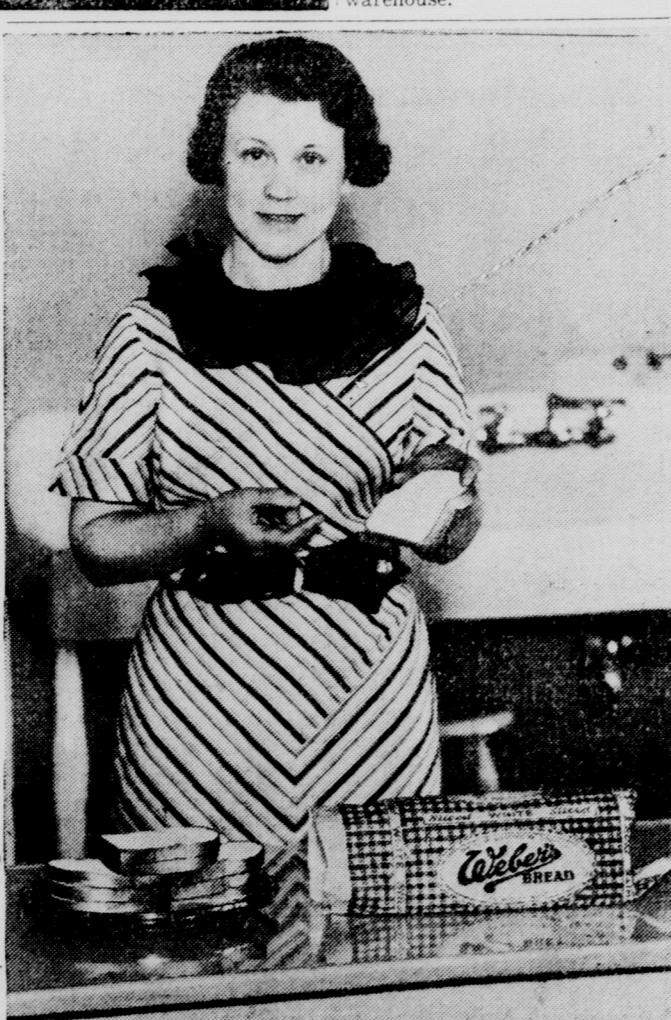

Democrats will elect eight delegates-at-large, each with a half vote, and two district delegates from each of the 15 congressional districts. Each of the latter will have one vote.

Each Democratic candidate is pledged to Mr. Roosevelt.

SIMPLE RULES WILL INSURE SUCCESS OF YOUR BAKING

Knowing that baking powder leavens cake, it is natural to assume that adding an extra half teaspoon to the amount specified in a recipe will give a cake greater lightness. However, that is not true, and the best plan to follow is to use the amount recommended on your baking powder can.

Because of the increased efficiency of K-C and some other baking powders in use today, representing about 80 per cent of the baking powder consumed, they should be used properly to insure successful bakeness.

Always use the amount specified on your baking powder can. This proportion has been worked out as best for that particular type. With K-C, 1 level teaspoonful to a cup of sifted flour is sufficient for most recipes.

Measure carefully. An excess amount of any baking powder does not produce best results. A level teaspoonful means you must level off with a knife.

K-C Baking Powder, the brand used in "The Journal" cooking school, is one of the most economical and efficient products entering the kitchen.

You can get additional information and a number of practical, tested recipes by sending for the K-C Cook's Book. A copy will be mailed, postage paid, if you will send your request together with the slip taken from a can of K-C Baking Powder, to Jaques Manufacturing Co., Chicago, Ill.

WEST OUTLINES MEET TOPIC

Supervisor N. E. West of Laguna Beach today outlined purposes of the meeting of 1000 Democrats at the Belmont High school, Los Angeles, last Saturday, at which he made one of the important motions which was adopted.

The gathering, he said, was an attempt to harmonize factions and organize members of the party with progressive tendencies. The meeting was not called to organize a new party or faction, he said, but to provide a vehicle through which the various liberal minded groups can function.

A declaration of principles was drawn up on a motion made by Mr. West. This declaration says the group adheres to the principles and objectives contained in the Democratic state platform of 1934. Other features in the declaration of principles included "relief from unnecessary tax burdens by enabling the unemployed to support themselves; pensions for the aged, disabled and widowed, sufficient to maintain an adequate standard of living; regulation of marketing of farm products in the interest of farmers and consumers; guaranteeing and defending the right of labor to organize and bargain collectively; development by the state of state-owned natural resources; public ownership of public utilities, and a single-house legislature."

Many Snakes Found In Hills

Picknickers, hikers and all who have a desire to tramp in the Santa Ana mountains, take warning. It's rattlesnake time, and, according to information from residents in the foothills, the snakes are thicker this year than in several years.

Last Saturday Mr. and Mrs. George Ames and a group of Santa Ana girl scouts went on a jaunt into the Santa Ana mountains near Irving Park. They found a large red rattler in an angry mood early in the afternoon. A short time later a second rattlesnake was found. Both were killed with rocks.

Upon examination, they found that the first rattler was the proud possessor of 12 rattles; the second had 10.

On their way back to their cars the group encountered two boys who had just killed another snake. The snake that the two boys had killed had six rattles.

ROPER GIVES BUSINESS 10-POINT PROGRAM TO ABSORB JOBLESS

MORALS CASE FIGURE WILL FIGHT CASE

Frank Barrows Pleads Not Guilty; Plans Insanity Stand

Nets of justice yesterday moved to close in on Frank Barrows, 61-year-old deaf music teacher of Placentia, second of three men arrested last week on charges of sexual crimes against Orange county boys.

Barrows, represented by Attorney N. D. Meyers, pleaded not guilty when he appeared yesterday before Justice Kenneth Morrison. Mr. Meyers said that he would plead not guilty by reason of insanity at the superior court trial, slated for Friday morning before Superior Judge James L. Allen.

Has Confessed

A full confession to charges made against him has been secured from the man, Assistant District Attorney James L. Davis said yesterday, and corroboration of the original evidence has been received from several quarters.

Barrows, weak and stooped, bears with great difficulty, and paid little attention to court proceedings, as formal charges against him were read and pleadings were made. His expression did not change as Judge Morrison informed him of his constitutional rights. He is formally charged with violation of section 288A of the penal code, having to do with crimes of perversion against minor boys.

Did Not Fight

William John Sutherland, Orange High school teacher, pleaded guilty to similar charges Friday and was sentenced to San Quentin prison. Sutherland, as did Barrows, waived his preliminary examination, and moved directly to superior court. Sutherland, however, did not fight the court sentence.

A third man implicated in the vice ring is being returned here from New Jersey to face charges. More than a score of boys under 18 have been found and testified to improper relations with him, authorities said. Scout executives have been instrumental in cleaning up the situation in regard to the third man, Alvin Koenig, 23-year old former Huntington Beach High school and U. S. C. athlete. Koenig, until recently connected with the county scout organization in an official capacity, is being returned here by Deputy Sheriff Merle Dean, and is expected to reach Santa Ana next Tuesday.

Sheriff Logan Jackson said today that the county authorities "would not rest until the whole mess is cleaned up." Further ar-

ON THE POLITICAL FRONT

ALFRED M. LANDON

(By Associated Press)

Gov. Alfred M. Landon stuck closely to his Kansas knitting as other Republican contenders for the president nomination made speeches hither and yon.

Nevertheless, Republican state conventions saw Landonites winning wide approval for their candidate. It seemed possible that the Republican convention would open in Cleveland in June with more delegations pledged to Landon than to any other man.

He has the virtue, in Republican eyes, of coming from the middle west where the campaign is expected to be won or lost. The financial east has made no vigorous objection to him. His insistence on budget balancing comes in well with Republican speeches generally. And he survived the Democratic landslides of '32 and '34.

If he fails of nomination his managers expect he will continue to battle for the ticket, probably in the agricultural belt where his knowledge of farm problems will be valuable.

H. B. TUDOR ASKS PROBATE OF WILL

Harry Bird Tudor, manager of the Rendezvous ballroom, Balboa, petitioned in superior court yesterday to admit the will of his deceased wife, Mrs. Maude K. Tudor, who died Feb. 15 in Los Angeles, to probate.

Mrs. Tudor left an estate valued at approximately $10,000 in Balboa real estate, stocks and cash, which is willed to her daughter, Henrietta Tudor Grand, with the provision that Mr. Tudor is to live in the Balboa house until his death.

U.S. CHAMBER CONVENTION HEARS HIM

Sibley Makes Plea For Alliance to Cure Unemployment

WASHINGTON, April 28. (AP)—Secretary Roper today proposed a 10-point program through which he said business can absorb more of the jobless.

The administration spokesman addressed the convention of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. His speech was regarded by his audience as bearing White House approval.

The commerce secretary said business should utilize every possible channel of approach that will result in the most effective cooperation between business and government."

Roper's Program

"1. Business should survey its own needs and its own conditions from the viewpoint of employing as many persons as current improvements and future programs demand.

"2. As improvements in productive efficiency are secured, business should pass on to the consumer the benefits of the lower costs of production which result.

"3. Business should form and launch industrial committees to study in a comprehensive way technological unemployment and methods for speeding up the transfer into other fields of earning capacity of workers replaced by machines.

"4. Business should stimulate the durable goods industries by early action that will provide for capital goods and machinery replacements due to obsolescence, depreciation and other causes.

Building Program

"5. Business should develop effective and wisely engineered home building programs, privately financed and managed and adapted to local needs, to foster better American home standards.

"6. Business should launch more aggressive endeavors to expand our foreign trade along the line and especially in cooperation with the administration's reciprocal trade agreement program.

"7. Business should have a research program, conducted by industry and business, for the purpose of informing business on a long-term useful public works plan looking to the coordination of proper national, state, local and private endeavors.

Urge Labor Study

"8. Business should make intensive research study of the relationship that should be maintained with respect to production, wages and hours of labor and the

"10. Business should utilize every possible channel of approach that will result in the most effective cooperation between business and government."

Sibley Makes Plea

A plea for a cooperative alliance between business and government to cure the unemployment malady was made before the chamber by its president, Harper Sibley.

Declaring that resources are at hand to put the jobless to work, he said the real question is whether, in attacking the problem, the "characteristically American principle of economic freedom is to be maintained" or is to be "circumscribed by government controls."

Another speaker, Lewis H. Brown, president of Johns-Manville corporation, suggested that the modern paradox of improving business and continuing large-scale unemployment was due to New Deal experimentation in what he called "planned economy" and an "economy of scarcity."

FARLEY SEES TWO-THIRDS RULE'S END

Says Convention Will Abolish Old System For Nomination

WASHINGTON, April 28. (AP)—James A. Farley, Democratic national chairman, predicted today that the two-thirds rule would be abolished by the 1936 Democratic national convention at Philadelphia in June.

"My own guess is that the two-thirds rule will be abrogated at this convention," Farley told a press conference. "I haven't seen or heard anything unfavorable to such a move so far."

The two-thirds majority to nominate, has been a frequent source of party controversy.

Farley was questioned about the 1936 platform.

"This platform will be as short, if not shorter, than the last one," he said.

The postmaster general said John E. Mack of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., was a "good guess" to nominate President Roosevelt. He said the nomination probably would be seconded by each of the 48 states.

A salute this week to Meriam and Judd Krone, Laguna newlyweds, whose work in the art world is causing interest these days.

Meriam, a talented young portrait painter, works daily on portrait work while Judd's unusual crowd-sketches still grace the windows of the Shop of the Open Window. Both exhibit in Laguna and Palm Springs.

Humphrey and children, Peggy and Charles Wray, and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Robb.

Here and There With The Journal's
Rambling County Editor

By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

IF YOU ever want to get a good education on animal lore, take a trip over Imperial highway. George Kellogg's Imperial highway.

Recently George suggested a free meal. Naturally, we snapped him up on it, and so he called yesterday and said he'd decided to make good on an idle boast—or invitation—and would we like to eat? Yep, we would! So off we went—along Imperial highway.

Our destination was Glen Ivy Hot Springs—six miles southeast of Corona, on the Elsinore—and Imperial—highway. Wonderful place, Glen Ivy, operated by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson. Nice meals, of which we had one, and losta hot baths, of which we didn't have any.

But, that isn't explaining the animal lore.

Also on the trip were Mrs. Kellogg and Mrs. Robert Hays of El Centro. Mrs. Hays raises Siamese cats. Mrs. Kellogg raises just cats. Our family raises just cats, too. And so we talked of cats, Siamese and otherwise, for miles and miles, letting the Imperial highway slide by unnoticed, except for an occasional word slipped in edgeways by George, when the cat conversation calmed down momentarily.

"Siamese cats are queer, they don't come when called 'kitty, kitty,' like ordinary cats. One calls them by name. Like here, Oscar. That's where the new bridge across the Santa Ana river will be built in a few years. Then Imperial highway will be in a straight line from—That's the way the conversation went.

But, in the end, the cat conversation came out ahead. Because, in addition to the cats, Siamese and otherwise, there was Louella, the trained Kellogg white rat, Bertha, the Gaines Scotty, and other animals, tossed in at random. George and I had only one high-way to talk about.

However, for what we missed on the trip, we can make up now, when cats and dogs and rats can be tuned out, just like on our radio. So here goes.

Imperialists are enthusiastic over work which will start soon north of Placentia on the stretch of road between the end of Cedar avenue, which runs directly south of Brea, and thus over Valencia avenue and into Yorba Linda.

Then, all they'll have to do is construct a few more miles of road and build a bridge over the river and presto! There's your highway.

A year or so doesn't mean a thing to those highwaymen. They've been working so long on their road that another 365 days seems like only a few minutes!

We talked with Charles Reynolds, engineer, who's now building part of the road on the west end of Cedar avenue and into L. A. county. Mr. Reynolds said the recently-completed stretch in Santa Ana canyon which replaced the Sulphur slide hill road, is the smoothest piece of highway built in the state last year. State machines recently proved that assertion. The road is partly Imperial highway—that's the route, anyway.

Also, Mr. Reynolds told of new methods used in building the stretch of road near La Habra. Instead of saving as much labor as possible in the work, contractors now must use as many men as possible. If they use too few, they're fined by the state, or government, or somebody. A laborer gets 60 cents an hour. For every man-hour under a prescribed minimum, the contractor is fined from $1.10 an hour, he said. So they use lots of men! Including 35 matchmen on a 2½-mile stretch of road!

More thoughts, while on the Glen Ivy trip, of the remarkable Butterfield stage route, which winds down through Corona, south through Prado, and then turns off through Chino and to San Gabriel.

The first stage drivers may have wandered a bit, missing small hills and gullies, but the most part of their route is still used by autoists. Engineers can't improve much on that first road, except by cutting through huge hills. And bridging gullies.

Incidentally, George told us that a guy named De Anza, who escorted one of the first tourist parties to California—back in the 1770's, had some little trouble in crossing our "raging" Santa Ana river. Our present crumpling river bed was, at that time, the worst crossing from Mexico City to San Francisco. Including the Colorado. It was the only river over which a bridge was built on the entire trip. Too swift, too rushing, to roll or ferry. Swallow that one!

When Blanka returned to the cabin on our patrol ship where Ardala was locked up, the latter sprang upon her from behind the door and knocked her unconscious! Then changing clothes with Blanka-Ardala impersonated her!

But Ardala's problem was to keep Blanka from revealing Ardala's plan!

When the watch changed—Lolur came in

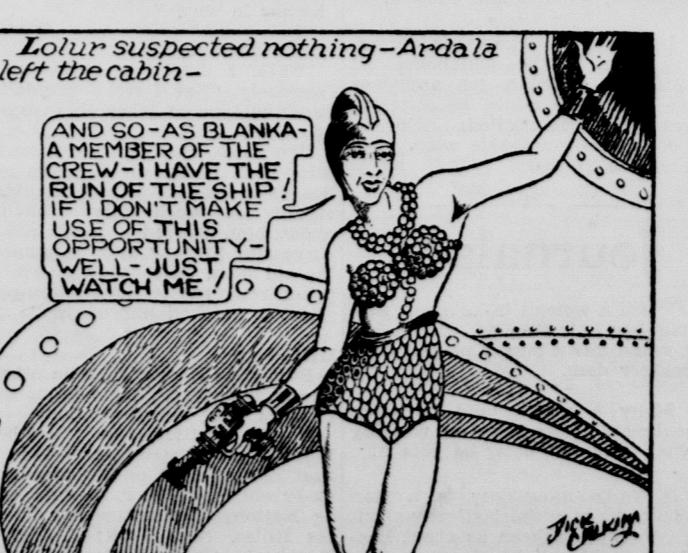

GUESS I'LL HAVE TO GIVE HER A FLICKER OF THE PARALYSIS RAY! THAT WILL KEEP HER QUIET

ALL RIGHT, BLANKA—I'LL TAKE OVER NOW. ISN'T THE OLD WILDCAT EVER GOING TO COME TO?

SHHH! SHE'S SLEEPING! THE DOCTOR SAID NOT TO WAKEN HER!

"WILDCAT" EH? THAT'S ONE I'LL REPAY YOU FOR, MISS LOLUR!

An Unwise Tax Bill

DON'T expect any learned discourse from us today on the merits of the administration's new $803,000,000 corporate tax bill now being discussed in the house. The bill is one of the largest in the history of congress—249 pages, containing more than 62,000 words.

In case you think it's our duty to shed light on such matters, just hold your breath and read these 46 words lifted from that tax bill:

"If the undistributed net income is a percentage of the adjusted net income which is less than 10 the tax bill shall be a percentage of the adjusted net income equal to one-tenth of the percentage which the undistributed net income is of the adjusted net income."

And, furthermore, there are other sentences in that collection of 62,000 words which are every bit as clear as the one we have just quoted.

In a general way, however, the objectives of the bill are sound—those of raising funds to finance the farm program and the soldiers' bonus, and of subjecting stockholders' corporate income to the same graduated rates of taxation to which other income is subjected.

But our concurrence with the general objectives of the bill does not mean we endorse it, with its incomprehensible, long-winded sentences. Or that we believe it will raise anywhere near the amount of revenue claimed, or that it will even offset the money now produced by taxes which will wipe off the books. And there is no assurance that the drastic experiment would not react harshly to private industry—which has the job of supporting the country.

We see no reason why congress shouldn't consider Senator La Follette's plan of broadening the base of the individual income tax system, bringing more taxpayers under its provisions, and graduating the rates from a small tax on small incomes to the maximum tax on the highest incomes.

In this way the additional revenue needed could be obtained; and congress might be able to build up a dependable source of income from future years without gambling with the nation's business.

Seventeen thousand Kentucky colonels have had their commissions restored by Governor Wise. Let somebody try and start a war with the United States now!

Potential President

A FEW days ago we stressed the importance of paying early and earnest attention to the question of the Vice Presidency, instead of following the usual course of apathy, with the Vice President being selected as an afterthought.

Here is a forcefully expressed view of a reader on the subject which we think will be worth your time:

"America faces greater problems than those which led to the Civil war. Our school text-books, glorifying one side or the other, have never properly informed the people what an awful, needless disaster that was, one from which we have never recovered. A nation which can stumble, as we stumbled into such a disaster has no ground to be blandly optimistic over its ability to handle the present situation.

"Slavery was a problem comparatively simple of solution compared with the one we confront today: the need of giving the worker sufficient purchasing power to absorb the products of the machine and unwillingness of the owning classes to adjust their minds, remove the prejudices of the age of scarcity, so that they can meet this imperative need. We are gravely in danger not of another five-year civil war but of something infinitely worse—the danger of entering a long period of sporadic struggle, in which freedom and orderly processes are suspended.

"In the face of such a situation can we not summon patriotism to rise above petty politics so that each party will nominate for second place a man actually believed fit for first place—a man fit to be captain of the ship in stormy weather?

"Along with getting a potent chief executive for the Vice Presidency, a real job should be given him, probably as a member of the cabinet."

Things could be worse. We now have to listen to political spellbinders over the radio, but soon there'll be television and we'll have to look at them.

Go Back to School

CALIFORNIA Public Schools week is off to a good start; the schools are being visited by parents and taxpayers; and the children and teachers are showing off enthusiastically.

And it's all well and good; taxpayers and parents should visit the schools, since education takes more than half the tax dollar—not including, of course, the abnormal demands just now for relief and welfare.

Schools once were places of dull drudgery. Children hated it. Now they like it—because it is not only a place of education, but also of directed social activities.

Indeed, schools have become so enterprising and alert to opportunities that they can take over some of the duties once exercised in the home. Today's teachers in many schools see that the children brush their teeth and comb their hair; that they learn to cooperate with others, and respect the rights of others; that they develop healthy, sane curiosity about life and the world we live in—and so on.

Who is responsible for these things? The school teacher, of course. When you visit your school this week, don't forget to hunt her up and tell her you're glad. She'll probably be surprised. So few think to do such a thing.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

Few masculine figures of New York streets turn so surely as Gen. John J. Pershing. Even before he is recognized, his erectness and superb carriage single him out for attention. At 76, he has the stride of a competent young athlete. General Pershing, like most thinkers, is one of the leisurely window shoppers, a army that includes Charles M. Schwab, Dr. John H. Finley, Max Steuer and Albert Einstein. When in New York, the general usually visits his club on Park avenue in the late afternoon.

O. O. McIntyre One of his pet stories concerns an inspection tour of forts he made after the war. At Fort Sam Houston, he was out for a sun-down stroll when he accosted two soldiers for a match for his cigar. They supplied him and walked on with marked indifference.

After a few steps they saw a Great Light. Only two days in the army they had run sprang into the big boss and had not saluted. They circled, timidly approached and apologized abjectly. "That's all right boys," said General Pershing, "but don't ever try that on a second lieutenant."

Arthur J. Burks, plaintiff of the pulps was recently permitted to sit in the electric chair at Sing Sing so he might turn out a gasper for a magazine. Before he sat down a prison guard advised him not to be so jocular about his adventure. He explained that Police Lieutenant Becker once on a social visit flopped down in the "hot spot" with a joke. Just a year later his sentence of death was executed in the same chair. Burks unfunned himself pronto.

New York has many odd breakfaasters. The late Edmund Breese liked plain lettuce and cup of orange juice. Lucius Beebe has one graham cracker, hot tea and two one-minute eggs spiced with Worcestershire and tobacco. Deac Aylesworth is partial to a baked apple with nubbin of tart cheese. Strangler Lewis likes streaming onion soup. But the wallowingest breakfast of all is indulged in once or twice a week by that sturdy trencherman, Bob Davis. He orders a stack of wheats, bacon and soft boiled eggs, fried potatoes and coffee. He breaks the eggs over the hot cakes, crumbles them with French fries, and decorates it all with French fries and splashes of maple syrup. Awk!

Someone in Charleston, S. C., sends in this description of Alexander Woolcott: "A Parker House roll with spectacles."

The metropolis has no outstanding polished gambler these days either in Wall street or the roulette halls. And none is of the spectacular type expressed by John W. Gates, Jesse Livermore and Richard Canfield. The kingpins today suggest Arnold Rothstein or Nick the Greek. Canfield was the most cultured of all. A friend of Whistler's, he roamed the European art galleries with aristocratic air and an understanding eye. His collection of Chippendale was considered discriminating. Great painters and sculptors liked to talk to him. Appraisers of art always consulted him.

About the most successful post-repeat night club impresario continues to be Sherman Billingsley, a soft spoken fellow who might be the proprietor of the leading furniture store in Enid, Okla., where he was born. His intake is said to be near a million a year and in a revealing article in a stage magazine admits that his $8000 a year rental is usually covered by a $12,800 a year hat checking concession. He declared most night clubs are short lived because of the commission racket of provision dealers. Unless this is scotched it is impossible to survive. Another bankruptcy leak is theft by both customers and employees.

Monte Bell, the newspaperman who became a movie director, will spend the next three months in a tent in the heart of India filming a Kipling elephant story. He was preparing for a trip to America when he was selected for the job and in five hours took off in a plane for Mysore in a spray of innoculations against typhoid, smallpox, malaria and cholera.

During Gene Crawley's formative days in the Oklahoma oil fields, he asked a job applicant one day if he might be a "clock watcher." He replied: "No sir, I don't care for inside work. I'm a whistler listener."

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Herbert Hoover is in the Republican nomination race chiefly for one purpose—revenge.

Before 1928 the controlling motive behind Hoover's presidential ambitions was an urge for power. Since his defeat in 1932 the ruling passion of his life has been retaliation. He wants revenge not only on the Democrat who ousted him from office but on Republican leaders, both Old Guards and Progressives.

Hoover is furious with the Old Guards because of their open disparagement of him and their refusal to treat him as the titular leader of the party. He hates the Progressives because they either bolted or did not lift a finger to aid him in 1932; also because they have taken the lead in opposing his attempts to stage a comeback.

Next to humbling the Democratic President—whose refusal to reply to his caustic attacks he bitterly resents—Hoover wants most to force the hostile GOP chiefs to come to heel and feel the last of his deep-rooted displeasure.

He suggested this to the Kansas governor when Landon was writing his Kansas day speech, but Landon turned him down. Not only did he refuse to do the butting act, but he took a left-handed swipe at Hoover by saying the "slate must be wiped clean."

Borah, also, is strenuously opposed to a Hoover-influenced platform, and will join with the Lanedoraback group of leaders are indifferent about the platform, but they are very much against any dictation from Hoover as to the candidate.

HOOVER DELEGATES

To keep himself in the picture, Hoover is maneuvering aggressively to drum up a force of 100 or more delegates under his control. With such a troop in hand he would be able to command a certain degree of consideration.

This explains Hoover's bitter resentment against Landon for his entrance (through Governor Merriam) into the California delegate fight. Hoover wants a delegation which, while nominally uninstructed, actually would be under his thumb.

But now his chances even of making a showing at the convention are fading as did his one-time high hopes of the presidential nomination. It looks like a long road back for the sage of Palo Alto.

Hamilton, Kansas (now Landon's campaign manager), said nothing publicly but behind the scenes they did plenty of meat-axing.

At the meeting of the Republican national committee last December, the keynote of the off-the-record deliberations was "anybody but Hoover." From then on he faded rapidly from the picture as a serious contender.

UNDETERRED

The realization that his chances of winning the nomination were dimming gradually dawned on Hoover, and he changed his tactics. He spread assurances throughout the party that he was not a candidate, that his sole object was to make sure the Cleveland convention picked the right man and wrote the right kind of a platform.

Success in these directions is very uncertain. The Landon camp is strongly opposed to any Hoover influence in the shaping of the platform. They fear (with good reason) that the ex-President will attempt to insert a favorable reference to his regime.

He suggested this to the Kansas governor when Landon was writing his Kansas day speech, but Landon turned him down. Not only did he refuse to do the butting act, but he took a left-handed swipe at Hoover by saying the "slate must be wiped clean."

Borah, also, is strenuously opposed to a Hoover-influenced platform, and will join with the Lanedoraback group of leaders are indifferent about the platform, but they are very much against any dictation from Hoover as to the candidate.

HOOVER'S BITTER

RESENTMENT

The first thing he did was to take steps to pep up his speeches. A friend recently congratulated the ex-President on his livelier rhetorical style. Hoover nodded his head, said gravely:

"It was quite a problem at first, what to do to enliven my speeches. Some of my California friends suggested I send my speeches to the gag-men in Hollywood and let them put some humor in them."

"Did you?" asked the friend, thinking it was a jest.

"Yes, I did," replied Hoover seriously. "But I felt I couldn't use the type of jokes they suggested."

Ben Allen, Hoover's press counselor back in the old Belgium refugee days, who launched the first stream of world-wide publicity about him, proved a much more successful literary aide. Rejoining his old boss, Allen took Hoover's press relations in hand, brought about a marked improvement.

DECLINE

But while Hoover's public utterances improved, his nomination chances went into a tailspin.

Borah, bristling, tossed his hat into the ring, letting it be known that he was bent on stopping the ex-President. G. O. P. moguls such as National Committeemen Charles Hilles, New York; J. Henry Roraback, Connecticut; and John McGroarty and Upton Sinclair.

THAT STATE PRISON

To the Editor:—It just seems that the Townsend Plan fits into everything of an economic nature, and this is quite true of the state prison talked about so much these days in Orange county, and especially in that part of the county where the prison building is to be erected, at Costa Mesa. Some might think that this suggestion of wringing the Townsend Plan in on this prison question is quite far-fetched, and the imagination of only a fanatical Townsendite. But let us look at a few of the facts in this connection and see why every Townsendite should be opposed to having that prison erected in the ideal residential section of Orange county.

A government report, recently put out, states that we now have in this country 1,600,000 graduates of schools, colleges and universities, who have no jobs. The same report states that since 1929 we have an accumulation of young people totaling about eight million. In addition to this, the American Federation of Labor says that there are now 12,625,000 idle workers who under the present machine age can't get jobs and this is not counting the unorganized who are not listed with the above organization, commonly known by labor unions as scabs or unorganized, and then, too, this does not take into account the farm labor problem at all.

As long as the above conditions prevail, poverty remains with us, and out of poverty grows crime. As a result we are making criminals faster now than we can afford to build penitentiaries, and the more of these houses in a county or state, the more monuments of disgrace and shame of the products of a worn-out economic system. But why have these monuments of disgrace and shame stuck in our front yards where there is plenty of room for them in the back alleys where they belong? The adoption of the Townsend Plan, according to some of our leading economists would relieve us of about 80 per cent of our present-day production of criminals. This might interfere with the legal racket of today, but nevertheless it would be a great benefit to society.

The adoption of the Townsend Plan, and don't ever get it into your head that it is not coming. It is going to be a law—it is only a matter of a short time now. And when it is made a law, and about eight million citizens draw that $200, there will be countless members of the elderly people coming from the East and North to make their homes here and enjoy the beautiful climate of Orange county in their sunset days—few other places equal it along the Pacific coast. But who would come to California and buy a home under the eaves of a state penitentiary?

At Home in a Wagon," Walter Q. Phipps and Edward Scott started out on a trip this morning to extend over a period of six weeks or two months. They left without any particular objective point, but will probably point their horses' nose toward Barstow, camping wherever night overtakes them, and stopping when, where and as long as they please.

The naughty yet very gentle rain which fell yesterday morning very materially changed the plans of the household economics class, the members of which were to go to beautiful Orange county park for the annual picnic. However, they gathered at the home of Mrs. C. M. Jordan, where an election was held. Mrs. W. L. Tubbs was named president for the coming year, and Mrs. H. T. Rutherford secretary-treasurer.

Hughes in that year, more than half the delegates came through such primaries. Today 14 states have these laws. Three other states—Alabama, Florida and Georgia—have optional presidential primary laws. This political reform, much shouted as a marvelous improvement, has not swept the country as its sponsors predicted. Several states have discarded it.

Democrats will select delegates pledged to Roosevelt, John Steven McGroarty or Upton Sinclair. Republicans will choose between lists supporting Alf M. Landon or Earl Warren. Everyone knows that names must head the delegations lists. So the voters have the illuminating and heartening experience of choosing between John Doe and Richard Roe.

In effect, of course, the delegates will go to the conventions uninstructed. They realize that the ballot expresses no true mandate from the people. But the politicians like elections, the more
